ONE OF THE DIFFICULT tasks that faced American forces on Saipan was the job of overcoming the terror of civilians who had been told by Jap propagandists that the Yanks would torture them. They noled up in caves and had to be forced out with smoke bombs. The man with the baby on his back (top) looks with disbelief as he is assured that nothing will happen to him. A woman and her young son (bottom) hastily emerge as smoke fills the interior of their hideout.

BIG BOMB LOAD BLASTS KIEL

2,800 Tons of Explosives Rained on Naval Base by RAF Planes.

The Associated Press
LONDON, July 24—A great fleet of RAF bombers unloaded well over 2,800 tons of high explosives on the German naval base of Kiel last night as allied warplanes pounded Europe from the Baltic to Bucharest.

The German radio said heavy attacks against the reich were developing again today. The Germans reported enemy fighter formations over southwest Germany and Bavaria, suggesting allied planes from Italy might be joining in the attack.

Five separate bomber forces were sent out from Britain last night by the RAF, the largest raiding force since D-day. The raiding force consisted of 150 tons of bombs per minute. Other heavyweights bombed two large oil storage depots at Domburg, near St. Nazaire, in an effort to reduce further the enemy's dwindling fuel supplies, and another force hit German flying bomb sites in northern France.

Berlin Bombed
At the same time squadrons of RAF Mosquitoes attacked Berlin with 4,000-pound blockbusters for the first time since D-day and formations of these planes also provided overnight support for allied ground forces in Normandy by dropping incendiary bombs on the city.

Night-flying Mosquitoes also bombed an undisclosed objective in the Ruhr. The total loss in these sweeping overnight operations, which included laying mines in enemy waters, was eight planes. Two of these were lost in support operations over the Normandy battle area.

Mediterranean-based allied heavy bombers struck an oil refinery at Berat in Albania by daylight yesterday, and last night blasted military targets at Bucharest.

The Germans put up a thick anti-aircraft barrage over Kiel in whose snarled mien the German fleet was built. Despite dense clouds, aerial crews said they saw many large fires glowing. Some reported a "colossal" explosion lasting five or six seconds, possibly a direct hit on a naval arsenal.

Berlin called the Kiel raid "a heavy terror attack."

2 More Nazi Generals Hitler Bombing Victims

Toll Grows As Gestapo Presses Bloodiest Purge of Fuehrer's Foes; SS and Himmler Forces in Control.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, July 24—Two German generals, one chief of the air force general staff, have died of injuries from the Thursday bomb-blast aimed at Hitler's life, Berlin radio announced today.

Gestapo squads meanwhile were reported carrying forward a vast blood purge to quell what Flame Minister Winston Churchill termed a revolutionary in Germany.

Berlin listed the dead officers as Col. Gen. Guenther Korten, chief of the German air force general staff's operative section, and Maj. Gen. Helmuth Brandt, first officer in the army general staff's operative section.

This brought to three the announced death toll of the explosion. The Nazis already had announced the death of "the Fuehrer's collaborator" and double, whose name first was given as "Berger" but was reported today as Heinrich Berger.

Another Berlin broadcast declared the "Hitler salute" had been introduced in place of the army salute in the German armed forces—apparently as another step to assure loyalty of the troops to Hitler and Nazism.

On the German frontier the Associated Press learned from reliable but secret channels that the Himmler purge barely has touched the real leaders and organizers of resistance to Hitler, even though the Nazis apparently had won their first major battle with well-organized internal opposition.

Superficially, Germany today was quiet with SS and Nazi-officers in control, but the leadership of the internal opposition to the Nazis, except for a very few gaps created by the blood purge, has remained intact, the frontier account said.

These secret sources declared the only member of the "high committee opposition" caught was Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, taken by accident after he had been warned of impending arrest, and that Himmler "doesn't even know who the members of the committee are."

The committee and resistance organization has existed in Germany more than half a year, this information said. "Members include not only the military but also representatives of the German Evangelical and Catholic churches. The attempt at Hitler's life was designed not to overthrow the Nazis, for the opposition organization was well aware that it would take more than the liquidation of the Fuehrer to oust the Nazis, but was designed to show the people of Germany that it is possible to act against Hitler despite the SS and Gestapo."

Korten was appointed chief of staff of the German air force last August, succeeding the late Col. Gen. Hans Jeschonnek. He accompanied him on a tour of the Atlantic wall defenses last April. The Germans announced grave new reverses in Poland, placing the Russian army within 50 miles of Warsaw. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said events inside the reich "seem to show that experienced German generals have seen the writing on the wall."

CAMP PERRY, O., July 24—Three side camps to accommodate approximately 1,500 German prisoners of war to relieve northwestern Ohio's critical agricultural labor situation will be established at Bowling Green, Celina and Defiance, Col. Harold D. Woolley, Camp Perry commanding officer, announced today.

Two of the camps possibly will be in operation by Aug. 1, he said. Tents will be used at sites of former 4-H duo camps at Celina and Bowling Green, and unoccupied buildings at a former CCC camp will be utilized at Defiance.

Plans call for the assignment of 300 prisoners at Celina, 600 at Bowling Green and 600 at Defiance. Under control of Camp Perry, the camps will be in charge of American officers and enlisted personnel.

"First priority for prisoner labor will be to the highly critical areas in the immediate vicinity of the camps," said army officers.

$20,000 Fire YANKS OCCUPY PART OF PISA

12-Room Clifton Wenig Home, Landmark for 70 Years, Gutted by Flames.

Fire destroyed all but the brick walls and partitions of a historic county landmark last night when flames ate their way through the interior of the Clifton Wenig home on Route 305.

Neighbors noticed a fire in the 12-room house about 11 p. m. and called the LaRue fire department, but efforts to stem progress of the fire were in vain. Flames fought until a cistern from which they were pumping went dry.

Fire started in a small frame house at the rear of the main building and spread rapidly to the main building. A crowd which gathered helped move most of the furniture and personal belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Wenig and their four sons, who were attending a Sunday school meeting at a home east of Meeker when notified that their home was burning.

This morning another large fire was helping the family to move their goods to the LaRue home near DeChitt. Losses from the fire were estimated at $20,000. Mr. Wenig told firemen that he carried some insurance on the property.

The Wenig home was a familiar sight to travelers on Route 305. The structure stood well back from the road from which a long, tree-lined line led to the front. The house itself is nearly square, with a determined door.

WITH THE ALLIED FORCES
IN NORMANDY, July 24—The pattern of war in France, 1944, model, follows much the outline of World War I out the comparison ends there.

I saw nothing massed on the western front in 1918 that in magnitude and power equaled the concentration of military might that in this short time already is bulging the relatively small Normandy front. Wetters in troops, equipment or rolling stock, the stupendous proportions were evident.

Despite the striking strength of armor, heavy guns and aircraft, however, the infantry has shown it still is the force that puts it over. In no other branch of fighting is the comparison between the two wars so distinctly the same. Troops carry out the same tasks. But now there are more of them. The soldiers are like walking armories, and they are better skilled.

The fury of the air force, whether in combat or employed as artillery, prostrates the enemy as completely as the prolonged barrages flattened him before.

ADVANCE PUTS REDS 70 MILES FROM WARSAW

Soviet Troops Roll Up 20 Miles Gain in Few Hours at Night.

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW, July 24—The German army fled in disorder through central Poland today as the Russians advanced within 70 miles of Warsaw and fought through the streets of Lublin only 35 miles from the Wisla (Vistula) river line Hitler must hold to stage off a direct assault on the reich.

(The German radio acknowledged today that Russian troops had plunged within 30 miles of Warsaw, with Nazi troops abandoning Stedice and Jaroslau.)

(The Transocean agency said Red troops had "reached the line joining Stedice and Jaroslau" (Stedice is 50 miles due east of the Polish capital. It lies 365 airline miles from Berlin, by far the closest allied approach to that bomb-ridden capital of Nazism.)

(The Nazi communiques said two (pop 217,000 and third Polish city) and Lublin (118,000 and tenth Polish city) had become battlegrounds.)

(The enemy-reported advance to Stedice marked a 20-mile advance since midnight.)

In Stalin's juggernaut offensive entering its second month with increasing momentum, the Red army has captured 23 German generals and knocked out possibly 50 of the Germans' 250 divisions in the east (perhaps 200,000 or more men).

Battle of Poland
The battle of Poland, already assuming catastrophic consequences for Hitler's eastern front, was shaping into a struggle in the near future for Prussia itself.

The Red army moved deeply into the Baltic republics and in the south struck close to the Carpathian defenses of Hungary and Czechoslovakia, but it was over the wide, rolling plains that Stalin's war of movement hourly gained new decisions.

Brest-Litovsk was by-passed in a pocket 40 miles deep. Soviet troops mounted a frontal attack which battered into that Hug river city's suburbs.

Red army columns appearing from rail lines northeast and southeast advanced as close as 20 miles from Stedice, 50 miles east of Warsaw.

Seventy miles to the south, despairing and trapped Germans were being driven street by street from Lublin.

Marshal Rokossovsky's 27th guard of cavalry and tanks was within 25 miles of the upper Wisla (Vistula) river on a steadily widening front. Red army engineers rushed bridging materials and prepared to span this river line as swiftly as the Bug was crossed last week. Once the Wisla (Vistula) defense line is turned, the way would be opened to outflank Warsaw from the south.

Allied military observers marveled at the Soviet genius for maintaining supply services for an army that has raced 320 miles in 31 days.

Reds Unchecked
Field dispatches gave no indication that the Nazi high command had been able to halt, or even slow down, the rapid progress of the Russians, who announced advances from west of liberated Pskov, at the Estonian border, to Gdansk in the south. Fall of Pskov was announced by Premier Stalin yesterday in a special order of the day.

In the great gain toward Warsaw was the southeast of the city, where the Red army captured (Pskov, 87 miles from the Polish capital. This was expected to be the very corps of the Nazi defense before the Wisla and Warsaw.)

The manner in which the Germans were crumbling was illustrated best by official announcements of Russian accomplishments in the past 24 hours—more than 1,400 towns and villages captured and gains registered of 30 miles and more along the entire front.

It appeared that any front the Germans held in the Soviet Baltic republics was lost after yesterday's great advances, and today the Nazis were reported hurrying for seaports in order to escape capture or death.

South of Lublin the Russians reached the river San across from Jaroslau. Between this point and Lublin they drove hard for the lower Wisla, arriving at Tarnobrzeg, 37 miles to the east. Massing at the San for a crossing, the Soviet forces were 115 miles from Krakow.

In the newest disaster visited on the Germans, the Russians said they had captured 15,000 Nazis and found 30,000 dead in the encirclement at Brody, northeast of Lwow. Maj. Gen. Beutler of the 340th Nazi infantry division was reported killed, and Maj. Gen. (Turn to RUSSIA, Page 13)

Merger of 2 Commands Made Possible by U. S. Air Strength

Plans at Dayton Indicate Emphasis To Be Placed on Heavier Bombers in Future.

ALL B. MASON
Staff Press Writer

Plans upon the horizon—such that emphasis on airplane production henceforth can and should be placed on heavy bombers, particularly the new B-29 Superfortresses, and—

That aerial maintenance and supply problems in worldwide theaters now safely and easily can be handled in combination with other factors rather than by an individual command, charged solely with such responsibility.

Transfer of Brig. Gen. Kenneth B. Wolfe, head of America's first moving aerial task force, the 20th Bomber Command, to command the material division at Wright Field, is a major straw in the wind in support of the first point.

The war production board has emphasized that although the total number of planes produced each month will drop, overall weight of airplanes will increase. That's another way of saying that even though fewer planes are produced, the air force grows stronger, tougher and harder to sink through extension of aerial radius of action.

Turning Point Reached

That point alone would tend to indicate that a major turning point in grand strategy has been reached: maintaining an adequate production of fighters and "medium" bombers, the U. S. now, curiously, has leveled off what formerly would have been "deep" into landing strips from which we can strike farther and farther into both ends of the axis.

The shift is considered widely by military men as paralleling in its way, the army's industrial readjustment program where contracts for items once of highest priority are being revised to permit tapering off on some, or changing on another.

As to the "remarriage" of the ASC with the material command, that, too, records, in fashion, the fact that America now marches a smoother road. The ASC was "divorced" in March, 1941, first as a provisional command, which attained its full wartime status in November, 1942. It gave its special and uninterrupted attention to the business of aerial maintenance and supply in all theaters, from Alaska to Afghanistan and from California to New Caledonia.

Its record of achievement is

WOLFE "BIG MOOCH" Sounds like code, but it's all right, for the PV denotes the Navy Lockheed Ventura in which this cocker spaniel has completed four attack missions against Japan's Kuriles Islands, the K9 means canine, and "Big Moch" is his name. Looking snooty, "Big Moch" poses with his master, Navy Airman Frank Przybowski of Chicago, Ill., at a Navy base in the Aleutians. Official U. S. Navy photo.

nowhere better reflected than in reports indicating that airplanes grounded for lack of parts average approximately 3 per cent and in some theaters, just half that figure.

Heading up the new organization—to be known as the army air forces and material and services—will be Lt. Gen. William S. Knuesen, long dominant in America's peace-and-war-time economy. His deputy director will be Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, now acting commandant at Wright Field, a short, stocky, black-mustached command pilot who has spent most of his last 25 years of army service in and around that principal test and experimental center of the AAF.

What About Ersatz Water?

The laboratory has produced fine substitutes for many products.

But there is one product—an extremely important one, too—for which there will never be a substitute: WATER.

Without water there can be no animal or vegetable life. Perhaps that's why Nature provides it so plentifully.

What Nature doesn't do though is guarantee its purity. She left that to man.

The important role pure drinking water plays in the well-being of the people of this community is fully appreciated by water works employees and the business management of this utility.

You can depend on it—they will not let you down.

Let these guys start it!

There's a day coming when the enemy will be licked, beaten, whipped to a fare-thee-well—every last vestige of fight knocked out of him.

And there's a day coming when every mother's son of us will want to stand up and yell, to cheer ourselves hoarse over the greatest victory in history.

But let's not start the cheering yet.

In fact, let's not start it at all—over here. Let's leave it to the fellows who are doing the job—the only fellows who will know when it's done—to begin the celebrating.

Our leaders have told us over and over again that the smashing of the Axis will be a slow job, a dangerous job, a bloody job.

And they've told us what our own common sense confirms: that if we at home start throwing our hats in the air and easing up before the job's completely done, it will be slower, more dangerous, bloodier.

Right now, it's still up to us to buy War Bonds—and to keep on buying War Bonds.

Let's do that. Let's keep bearing down till we get the news of final victory from the only place such news can come: the battle-line.

If we do that, we'll have the right to join the cheering when the time comes.

Lt. Paul D. Keller is a member of the Ninth division in France which has been awarded the newly-created Combat Infantry badge by Maj. Gen. Mantel S. Eddy, division commander, according to word from the public relations office of the Ninth division. The awards were made in England shortly before operations on the continent began. The Ninth division, which landed on the beaches with early elements of the invasion, was one of the first to enter Cherbourg. This division also landed in North Africa and fought its way through Maknassy, and was the first infantry unit to enter Bizerte. Later the Ninth fought in Sicily at Palermo, Troina and Randazzo.

Slogan Adopted
Some time ago Lt. Keller wrote his wife of the adoption by the 38th Infantry of the Ninth Division of the slogan, "Anytime, Anywhere, Bar Nothing." This slogan was translated into an insignia worn by the soldiers. On helmets and other equipment are three A's side by side with a continuous line, or bar, running across. The barred A's are followed by a circle, representing the "nothing" in the slogan. In The Star June 23, there appeared a full page advertisement for the Fifth War Loan drive which included the picture of a soldier whose helmet bears the insignia previously described. Also on the page is the slogan. Mrs. Keller sent the full page to her husband, who identified it as belonging to his group. He said that his commanding officer was pleased with

FIRE DESTROYS STRAW NEAR GREEN CAMP

GREEN CAMP — A match, tossed away by one of the workers baling straw at the M. L. Tilton farm, west of Green Camp, resulted in the loss of 30 bales of straw and a large farm wagon, Saturday afternoon.

About one-third of the ten-acre field was swept by the flames. When the fire started spreading in the direction of the Cool Harbor home the Green Camp fire department was summoned. Workers in the straw field attached a disbarrow to a tractor and started to plow circles around the fire. When the flames reached the newly plowed land the fire died out. Adjoining the straw field was a field of clover hay.

The farm wagon was the property of Charles Wasserbeck of Green Camp. The wagon and the load of baled straw was estimated to be worth $150.

The bales were only slightly damaged if at all the property of Walter Rothfuss and Clarence Schaber.

America is still THE LAND OF PLENTY

THE two things on which this nation relies for food—farmers to grow it, railroads to move it—have again come through.

Farmers have seen their fine young sons go off to war; but with the help of the women folks and the smaller boys and girls they've been out there tending and harvesting one of the largest crops ever to come to market.

And the railroads, while shouldering the greatest war load in history, have mobilized the cars to move those crops... at low prewar freight rates, too!

INDIANS BEAT NATS
TO TAKE 4TH PLACE

The Associated Press
July 24.—The Indians were in fourth place in the strong National League baseball season today, having won a 4 to 3 decision over the Nats.

Joe Mauer, pitcher, was the star of the game, throwing a 4 to 3 decision over the Nats.

After giving up a lead in the first inning, the Indians gained momentum in the sixth and seventh innings, winning by a total of 4 to 3.

The Indians, who had been in the cellar for some time, now find themselves in a better position.

The Nats, on the other hand, are still in the cellar, having lost to the Indians.

KILLS ELEVEN GERMAN

Pvt. Back Discovers Nazi Trap in Time to Save Yank Platoon.

Leonard Johnson of Prospect has received a newspaper clipping from the Mansfield News-Journal telling of a hand to hand combat between an infantry battalion and a group of German soldiers in which his nephew, Pvt. Carl Back, was credited with killing 11 Nazis.

According to a story written by John Thompson, Chicago Tribune war reporter in France, Pvt. Back detected the group of soldiers moving toward a tank site. With Cpl. William Moreland of Chicago he waited until the soldiers were in view. An apparent group of German prisoners being brought in by six Americans proved to be a ruse. The Germans were armed and were holding the Americans by the elbow. The ensuing battle lasted about 20 minutes. Pvt. Back killed 11 Germans, five were captured and the rest of 40 Germans were also killed. There were no casualties among the armored platoon near the infantry battalion.
